

Experience the 2010 FIFA World Cup and Winter Olympics Everywhere, Live on DTV with the Cinergy T Stick RC

Another banner year for sports is coming up with the Winter Olympic Games followed by the FIFA World Cup soccer tournament in South Africa next summer. For those who wish to catch all the most exciting matches and competitions, now is the time to plan ahead. And TerraTec Electronic provides the perfect mobile TV package for sports fan: Cinergy T Stick RC brings TV to the computer for everyone to enjoy, even those on a tight budget. Priced at a very affordable 29.99 euros, Cinergy T Stick RC is available now to enable digital TV (DVB-T) reception on the go.

TerraTec Home Cinema Basic, a TV software application optimized specifically for this purpose, affords viewers even greater convenience. All the user has to do is select a sports event using the electronic program guide (EPG). The computer then boots automatically at the start of the broadcast and shuts down again when the show is over to conserve energy. The integrated "boss alert" function helps avoid potentially embarrassing situations at the office: If the supervisor happens to stop by, the viewer can minimize the entire application, mute the audio, and activate the time-shift function with a single THC key combination. When the boss moves on again, the viewer can resume watching the broadcast at the point of interruption and never miss a goal. This solution also turns notebooks and PCs into powerful video recorders.

Updates are loaded automatically, ensuring the Cinergy user's PC always runs the latest version. THC offers a host of convenient features beyond the aforementioned time-shifted viewing, including automatic start-up from standby or sleep modes and subtitles (teletext and DVB) that may be hidden and viewed at will. TerraTec Home Cinema supports all prevailing European standards.
